Fairbanks Community Band

Ann Musco, Director

HELP KEEP YOUR COMMUNITY BAND ALIVE AND GROWING!

Did you know . . .

- One piece of band music can cost $100 or more?
- The community band pays over $700 to rent space for one concert?
- Most members have their own instruments, but percussion instruments must be purchased by the band?

The Fairbanks Community Band is a non-profit, all-volunteer organization which depends on contributions from individuals and businesses within the community for its operating expenses. Your deductible donation would be greatly appreciated. Your name will appear as a donor in the band's concert programs, unless you specify otherwise.

Your community band gives 3-4 concerts during the school year and several Wednesday "Concerts in the Park" in June and July. The band also performs in the Golden Days Parade and gives a concert at the Tanana Valley State Fair in August. In May, the band provides graduation music for some of alternative schools that do not have their own bands.
